Teikyo University Graduate School of Public Health

Harvard Special Session 2014

Jan 11 – Feb 4, 2014

Every January Teikyo has invited five professors from Harvard University to give an intensive course of lectures for the graduate program of public health since 2012 of the commencement.   This course covers five frames required by the Council of Education for Public Health: Epidemiology, Biostatistics, Environmental Health Sciences, Health Policy and Management, and Social and Behavioral Sciences.

As the abridged version of the lectures of Harvard School of Public Health, the Certificates authorized by professors of both Teikyo and Harvard University are issued to the student upon completion of this course. The course is a part of the Teikyo-Harvard Program which both institutes have agreed to continue next ten years.

The last two sessions attracted students from the United States and Asian countries such as Thailand and China, and they brought a global atmosphere to classroom.   We welcome and look forward to having participants from many countries.

We will accept applications from October.
